

Alpine Time: Timex Expedition WS4

POSTED BY JOEL JOHNSON, FEBRUARY 2, 2009 10:46 AM | PERMALINK

The new Timex Expedition WS4 is a lot of watch: altimeter, barometer, thermometer, chronograph, alarm and compass. It even tells time! It's also unapologetically macho which not venturing too far into the land of overwrought wrist weights.

Its got the standard stuff you'd expect for other Timex sport watches, making it water resistant to 50 meters and lit completely by Indiglo. The default strap is rubber, but it can also be mounted to a fabric strap so it can be worn on the outside of heavy gear.

It also comes in colors other than EMS Orange, so you might even be able to wear yours when you're not on a mountain. Available pretty much everywhere by May, the Expedition WS4 will cost you $200.

posted in: SPORTS AND SURVIVAL, WATCHES AND CLOCKS

♥ FAVORITE THIS! ( 3 )

✉ SEND

digg it

 Buzz up!